The Pope's alleged assailant, Mr. Agea, was still being questioned in Rome's central police station today.

Despite the lack of hard evidence, several Italian newspapers continued speculating today that Mr. Agea was the agent of intemutional plut to kill the Pope.

The daily Corriere della-Sers-said in a bunner headline that King Hassan of Morocco had accused Libyan leader Col. Muammar Qudhaft of being involved. The king made the allegation in a letter to Italian President Sandro Pertini, the report said.

Italian police today searched in at least five cities -- Rome, Milan. Genoa, Perugia and Palermo-for persons who might have met the Pope's would-be assassin.

Turkish police arrested the bearer of the passport apparently used by Mr. Agea to enter Italy, police sources reported today.

They said Mr. Faruk Ozgun. whose name Mr. Agea used as an alias in entering Italy, was taken into custody late yesterday in the central Turkish town of Nevsebir, south of Ankara.

Bani-Sadr seeks details of peace mission's plan

BEIRUT, May 16 (A.P.) - Iranian President Abol Hassan Bani-Sadr said today he was seeking clarification of Non-aligned peace proposals to end the war with Iraq. After conferring with revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Mr. Bani-Sadr told the official Iranian news agency Pars that Iran had "requested some more details and explanations" on the peace proposals made by the Non-aligned mission. "Whenever the proposals are clarified we would announce these to the people," Mr. Bani-Sadr said. The peace mission is made up of representatives of Cuba, India, Zambia and the Palestine Liberation Organisation.

"If our proposals for peace are accepted we cannot raise any other pretext and we cannot say we require more new proposals. We will stick to our proposals and stands and will not accept anything less than these, until we win our final victory," Mr. Bani-Sadr added.

President Ronald Reagan's Middle East troubleshooter flew here from Tel Aviv on the 10th day of his shuttle among the capitals of Lebanon, Syria and Israel in a bid to defuse the SAM-6 missile crisis. But the officials had no word on Reports in the Lebanese press said Mr. Habib planned to ask Saudi Arabia, a major financial backer of Syria, to try to persuade the Damascus government to withdraw the Soviet-made SAM-6 anti-aircraft missile batteries it deployed on April 29 in eastern Lebanon's Bekaa Valley.

Israel has threatened military action to wipe the missiles out if the Syrians do not withdraw them voluntarily. Mr. Habib has been unable to talk Syrian President Hafez Al Assad--they met twice for a total of seven hours--into wheeling back the missiles that were deployed a day after Israeli jets shot down two Syrian helicopter gunships in the Bekaa.

Meanwhile today, reporters reaching the outskirts of the besleged eastern Lebunon city of Zahle, located five kilometres north of the Beirut-Damascus highway, said Syrian guns were hitting the city and rightist militiamen were returning the fire on Syrian positions around Zahle.

The Syrians surrounded the city April 1, and drove the rightists out of their positions in the neighbouring central Lebanese mountains about two weeks later. Libyan leader Col. Muammar

Qudhafi has appealed to the Lebanese government to accept the deployment of a joint Arab army in Lebanon and offered to set up

Lebanon today urged both the Soviet Union and the United Stalling into war.

Lebanese Prime Minister Shufig Al Wazzan summoned the ambassadors of the two superpowers and said they "must exert all pressures to prevent an explosion, restrain Israel and stand against its aggression." But Mr. Habib, a veteran diplomat who came out of retirement to be President Reagan's special emissary in the crisis, has made no substantial comment on his exhausting mission, leading observers to feel he has made no progress. During the past week he has made two circuits on the Lebanon-Syria-Israel route, but the Israelis and the Syrians have not changed their adamant public stances. Deep misgivings about military action have been expressed by two former Israeli ev-generals, who told Israeli television last night that political means should be fully exhausted before any military steps were taken.

Retired Maj. Gen. Moshe Peled said the missiles were a threat to Israel's security but that no military action should be taken unless all political efforts had proved fru-

Former northern front commander Dan Laner said the Syrian missiles should not be considered a justification for war. He said Israel should clarify its objectives in Lebanon

Diggers back at southern Ghor sites

AMMAN, May 16 (Petra) - The Department of Antiquities and an American archaeological team will start on Monday the fourth excavation season at three archaeological sites near the soutbern end of the Dead Sea.

A department spokesman said that the excavation work, to be conducted in cooperation with the American Centre of Oriental Research in Amman and the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C., will be carried out at Bab Al Dhra, Ghor Nimrin and Ghor Al Safi.

The excavations are a follow up on previous digs, aimed unc-overing more artifacts and ancient tombs dating to the Early Bronze Age, according to the dep-artment's director. Dr. Adnan Hadidi. "We hope the new art-ifacts will shed light on the transition period between tribal life and early agricultural life in these regions," Dr. Hadidi said.

He added that earlier excavations at the same sites revealed that the region was the cradle of some of the earliest civilisations in the history of the world.

According to Dr. Hadidi artifacts found at Bab Al Dhra have been displayed at the Museum of Neutral History in Washington.

Congratulations

THIS NEWSPAPER would like to play its small part in the development of Jordan, and we feel that one of the contributions we can make is to point out cases of behaviour that deserve either special merit or scorn, as the case may be. Today, we would like to institute a tradition of awarding an annual prize to what we judge to be among the worst run institutions in the country. The award, to be called the Jordan Times Award for Incompetence Beyond the Call of Daty, will only be given to services in the public sector, on the assumption that what private companies do is their own business. The 1980 Jordan Times Award for Incompetence Beyond the Call of Duty is herewith given to the people in charge of the parking lot at Amman civil airport. We are vague about who the people are because, frankly, we do not know who is legally and formally in charge of the parking lot. What we do know, however, is that it is perhaps the best living example of the monumental chaos that can be generated, day after day, when man and machine are thrown into a working relationship for which neither is prepared. The trouble is that most people only go to the airport occasionally, and forget about the parking lot's extraordinary pandemonium after they leave the airport. Therefere a mess is perpetuated, and few people seem able or willing to improve the sad matter, thereby aggravating an already disgraceful situation. Jordan deserves better than

Strangers in their own land

By Dr. Kamel S. Abu Jabe

WHEN THEY speak or write, it is as if they speak a language inc-omprehensible to their society: as if it were the language of some outerspace alien beings. That is, when, and if, they speak. Most of the time the daily strain of their lives and its necessities swallows up their brains. The strain sinks in slowly "draining" their brains as a result of their awareness of what is going on. They see: they are aware of the potential of their society. the Arab Nation, and its present status quo. They are aware of what is, what can be, and what was. These realities terrorise their lives and they watch, in helplessness and frustration, the forces playing havoc with their lives and the lives of their children, and the future of

What is remarkable, is that the bargaining between the Israeli latter case, the time is measured in years, not in days. When Israel

Kuwait's surplus up to $65.1b

KUWAIT, May 16 (A.P.) — The surplus perrodollars of Kuwait, the world's richest country per capita, increased 34 per cent in 1980, according to a government report published here today.

The report, submitted to Parliament earlier in the week, showed the surplus was $65.1 billion, compared with 48.6 billion in oil sales amounted to more than $19 billion in 1980, according to official statistics.

The increase was ascribed to the rise in oil prices and profits from foreign investments.

The statement which was being examined by Parliament said that 66.6 per cent of the country's surplus funds were being invested in the United States and Western European countries, 4.8 per cent

Japan and African countries, and 27.6 per cent inside Kuwait.

Toward the end of this decade, the statement said, Kuwait's income from foreign iovestments should amount to two-thirds the size of its revenues from oil sales. No precise figures were revealed on that score. Meantime, a number of par-

GENEVA, May 16 (R) - Developing countries have called on the industrial world to remove selective barriers erected against exporters who benefited most from a United Nations preferential trade

Iranian interim Charge d'Affaires Mostafa Dabiri, speakiog for the Third World group, told the U.N. special committee on preferences that the quotas and other rastrictions were a "retrograde and disturbing" feature of the Generalised System of Preferences (GSP).

Mr. Dabiri said the system abolishing or reducing customs duty on a wide range of exports was supposed to apply without discrimination to all developing countries wheo it hegan 10 years ago.

But, he said, the Third World had obtained only marginal advantages because richer preference-giving governments now "graduated" successful exporters out of the system.

Brazilian mission member Adhemar Gabriel Bahadian, wbose country's GSP exports bave been cut by both the United States and the European Economic Community, told delegates today: "Let us call protectionism by its proper name."

Brazil fully shared a U.N. Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) analysis which said graduation flouted the principle of noo-discrimination and was becoming an official policy of developed countries, Mr. Bahadian said.

It was based on the "spurious gospel" of giving more poorer countries easy market access while liberalising trade with successful Third World exporters, be added.

The industrialised countries told the committee earlier that GSP imports into member states of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) reached $20.4 billioo in value in These imports had been registering an annual average growth rate of more than 30 per cent and were clearly a dynamic element in world trade, West German spokesman Ernst-August Hoerig said on behalf of preference-giving market economy countries.

Mr. Dabiri said that the latest round of multi-lateral trade oegotiations under the Geoeral Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) had reduced the margin of preference enjoyed by developing countries in overseas markets.

Fresh, forward-looking initiatives should be launched, including an extension of GSP terms to industrial products from all developing countries and higher priority to the least developed nations, he said.

Pope stakes prestige on abortion referendums

Italy's abortion law is now one of the most liberal in the Western industrialised world. Enacted in May 1978 over vigorous opposition by the Vatican and the Christian Democrats, it permits a woman over 18 to obtain a free abortion in a state clinic in the first 90 days of pregnancy if having the child would "compromise - her economic, social, family or psychological well-being.

Q.1-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦KJ102 ♥764 ♦952 ♣AQ6 Partner opens the bidding with one spade.

What do you respond? A .- What at first looks like a reasonably good hand withers somewhat under close scrutioy. One major flaw is the 4-3-3-3 pattern. which means there is no ruffing value present. Theo the concentration of spade honors could represent a slight duplication of values if your partner has A-Q, the knave is a wasted card. All in all, a simple raise to two spades adequately describes your hand.

Q.2-As South, vulnerable, you hold: ◆A6 ♥ 108742 ♦ AJ63 ◆KQ

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 4 Pass 2 4 9 Pass ? Pass 2 V Pass

What action do you take? A .- There must surely be a slam here and we vote for the value bid of six hearts. We don't think that there is room to find out whether partner has all the key cards we need to make a grand slam. However, we award full marks to any move beyond game provided you intend bidding a slam even if partner makes no further forward-going move.

Q.3-As South, vulnerable, you bold:

♦J83 ♥97 ♦84 ♣AK10762 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pasa 2 + Pass 2 NT Pasa ? What action do you take?

A .- Even if your club auit produces five tricks, there is no guarantee that partner's hand is good enough to yield four more before the opponents have collected five. However, we wouldn't pass. We would bid three spades, and would be delighted if partner goes to game in either spades or no trump.

Q.4-Neitber vulnerable, as South you hold:

♦K1072 ♥6 ♦ AKJ632 ♣AK The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

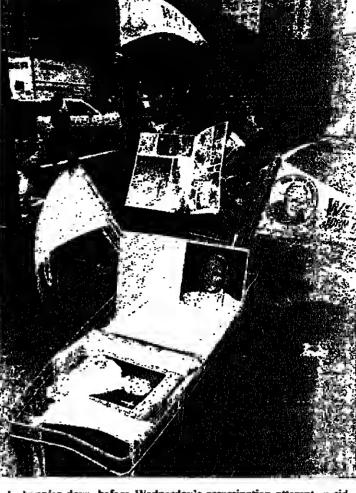

What do you bid now? A .- You have an enormoua hand in support of spades. Since all your values are in prime cards, no spade raise will do your hand justice. Make a jump shift to three clubs. That maneuver is perfectly safe, for if partner raises clubs, you can always returo to his spades without increasing the level of the

Q.5 - Neither vuloerable, as South you hold: ♦K1072 ♥6 ♦ AKJ632 ♣AK The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ○ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

What do you bid oow? A .- In terms of strength. your haod is worth a jump rebid of three diamonds. However, that bid is tactically incorrect-it could result one spade. There is oo reason to bypass a fair four-card major and, in view of the potential misfit, you are not strong enough to jump to two spades. If partner passes one spade, in all likelibood he also would have passed a jump to three diamonds. But at least you will have given yourself every chance to reach the right contract.

Q.6-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ◆AK95 ♥982 ◊753 ◆AK4 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Dble. 3 + Pass

What action do you take? A. - Partner does not have a good hand. On the contrary, a jump raise over a double shows a weak distributional hand with little or no defensive value. If you realize that, then you must also see that the hand offers no prospect for game. Pass.

Renewed clashes reported between China, Vietnam

PEKING, May 16 (R) — China said today its border guards killed 23 Vietnamese troops in fresh clashes along the two countries' battle-scarred border on the night of May 10 to 11.

The official People's Daily said a company of Vietnamese troops, backed by tanks and covered by a 2,000-round artillery barrage, launched three assaults on Chinese positions in Guangxi Province. It said the attacks were repulsed.

The newspaper said 21 Chi-nese border guards were killed or wnunded on May 6 by Vietnamese artillery. In almost daily incidents since then, one Chinese soldier had been killed and six wnunded, it said.

The Vietnam News Agency, monitored in Hong Fung today, accused Chinese troops of firing hundreds of mortar bombs and grenades at villages in Vietnam's northern Lang Son Province on Thursday. It said a number of civilians were killed.

Meanwhile, a Chinese protest was made in a foreign ministry note to the Vietnamese assy in Peking accusing Hanoi of "repeated armed provocations and intrusions into China's border areas".

It said that since an earlier Chinese protest note on May 5, the Vietnamese had "intensified their efforts to fire and shell Chinese territory every day from many sectors along the Sino-Vietnamese border.'

Japanese FM resigns

TOKYO, May 16 (R)—Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ito resigned today, admitting responsibility for what Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki called a misleading communique issued after his summit with President Ronald Reagan in Washington last week.

Mr. Ito was replaced by Mr. Sunao, 67, a former foreign minister who negotiated the 1978 Japan-China Peace and Friendship Treaty.

The controversial communique led to interpretations that Japan was going to step up military cooperation with the United States.

Mr. Ito's resignation may und-erline to the United States that Japan, despite heavy pressure from the Reagan administration. has no plaps for hig increases in its military role. He told reporters after the announcement of his resignation that be had stepped down to take responsibility for the confusion resulting from the communique, which used the word "alliance" in its reference to Japanese-U.S. rel-

Smouldering lava claims 163 lives in Indonesia

JAKARTA, May 16 (A.P.) - Sixtyinine more bodies were found at scattered places in villages on the eastern and southern sides of Semeru Mountain in East Java following the smouldering flow of lava last Thursday, hringing the death toll to 163, the district chief of Candipuro said today.

Mr. Mansur said 162 other persons were still reported missing. He said there were also 41 persons injured in the tragedy.

Earlier reports said 94 were dead and 41 were injured. He said the flow of lava from the mountain started at about 7 p.m. (12:00 GMT) Thursday following incessant heavy rains.

Big stones and huge tree trunks were seen moving swiftly in the flood water, smashing houses and other huildings in several villages of the district, Mr. Mansur said.

He said panic-stricken people fled upon bearing the sizzling sound of smouldering flow of lava although many were unaware what was happening.

Most of the injured are being treated at the regency town of Lumajang and other adjacent places, he said.

An official of the department of public works said an investigation was underway to determine the destruction caused by the disaster. However, he estimated that it may reach about a half hillion rupiahs or about $800 million.

A calculated move to boost ailing franc

Mitterrand to take office May 21

PARIS, May 16, (R) - Mr. Francois Mitterrand will take over as president of France next Thursday, three days ahead of schedule, in a move apparently designed to ease the current pressure on the franc.

Communiques were issued late yesterday both by the Elysee Presidential Palace and by Mr. Mitterrand's staff which said the handover would be at 9.30 a.m. (0730 GMT) on May 21.

The seven year mandate of Mr. Valery Giscard l'Estaing, defeated in last Sunday's final round of the presidential elections, had officially been due to expire on May 24.

Negotiations went on through most of the day between the two men's staffs as pressure mounted for Mr. Mitterrand to assume power as soon as possible if only to reassure the international business community.

Last week French authorities spent hillions of dollars supporting the franc after it slumped to its floor against the West German mark under European Monetary System (EMS) rules.

The newspaper Le Monde, which supported Mr. Mitterrand's campaign, yesterday pressed him to assume office as soon as possible, saying France had become an unknown quantity for the international solution of the serving centre-right dominated National Assembly and the calling of general elections, prohably for June 14 and 21.

No details of the inauguration ceremony were yet available and there was no precedent under the Fifth Republic of one president handing power dir-

Columbia to go up again

CAPE CANAVERAL, May 16 (R) - The space shuttle Columhia will make its second flight on Sept. 30, U.S. space officials have announced.

'The condition of the Columbia (after its recent mission) is truly exceptional and far beyond what we had dreamed, especially in the tile area," Mr. John Presnell, an official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said when be announced the date of the next mission to reporters at the Kennedy Space Centre here.

The reporters were given a close-up look at Columbia. Except for some chips and scratches on its thermal protection tiles, the plane-like craft looked as if it had never flown.

Mr. Robert Dotts, in charge of Columbia's external insulation, said about 300 of more than 30,000 heat-absorbing tiles had been damaged but only about 12 would need to be replaced.

Most damage was caused during the launching of Columbia on April 12 and by falling ice which had huilt up on the outside of the shuttle's super-cold fuel tank, just sas moisture forms on the outside of a cold drinking glass on a warm

The rest of the damage was caused by stones and other dehris when the Columbia landed on a dry lakebed in California after 36 orbits of Earth.

East and West: Schmidt in midd

By Chris Catlin

BONN — As Chancellor Helmut Schmidt prepares for summit talks in Washington this month, West Germany is keeping a wary eye on emerging U.S. attitudes towards East-West relations and disarmament.

kishness from the Reagan administration is matched by uncertainty over apparent efforts by the Soviet Union both to cultivate Bonn and simultaneously sway public opinion bere against government arms policies.

A key issue in hoth relationships is the NATO plan to deploy 572 new U.S. nuclear missiles in Europe from 1983 onw-ards unless Moscow and Washington can agree before hand on restricting such weapons.

West Germany sees both ele-ments of the 1979 decision as vital. The snag is that its support for the missile programme has not just drawn fire from Moscow, hut is challenged at home by antinuclear groups and critics in Mr. Schmidt's Social Democratic Party (SPD).

And whenever the government insists it is equally committed to early U.S.-Soviet negotiations, new signs emerge that its Washington allies might be less keen on the idea.

Since a meeting of NATO defence ministers in Bonn earlier last month, West German commentators have found a new bogeyman in the person of Mr. Caspar Weinberger, the U.S. Defence Secretary.

Mr. Weinberger stirred emotions by suggesting that Soviet leaders had merely exploited detente to pursue an arms build-up, and by developing a linkage between the Polish crisis and Washington's readiness to resume arms talks.

Its sensitivity to hints of "haw- The news magazine Der Spiegel compared him to "an arrogant occupation officer." Former SPD Party Manager Egon Bahr observed tartly that be might at least try to help Bonn counter anti-American feelings in the country.

Mr. Weinberger's comments even drew an indirect rehuff from Mr. Schmidt, who in a speech urged critics of detente to reflect what kind of Soviet arms build-up there would have been in cold war conditions. Bonn's concern seemed hriefly allayed by Secretary of State Alexander Haig, who later paid a fly-ing visit to Bonn and was quoted by Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher as saying arms talks should resume without delay.

Within days, however, Mr. Weinherger revived the controversy by saying the Soviet Union must reduce its troop strength round Poland before negotiations could start.

For West German commentators his statement went beyond an agreed NATO warning that Soviet intervention would undermine the hasis for talks. One editorial asked: "What is the value of painstakingly agreed compromises if the Defence Minister of our most important ally allows himself simply to sweep them aside?".

Bonn officials sought to cool tempers by pointing out that differences of emphasis were natural between foreign and defence ministers. The government was confident, they said, that a Rome meeting of NATO foreign ministers in early this month would renew the commitment to neg-

But Mr. Schmidt, who sets off for Washington on May 20, seems to hope for rather more than a restatement of NATO's line. Twice recently he has forecast that the talks, adjourned in Geneva last November, will start again "relatively soon."

Quite apart from West Germany's political and economic stake in better East-West relations, Mr. Schmidt needs at least the prospect of talks to bead off opposition to the missile programme from sections of the SPD and the public.

SPD left-wingers have threatened to withdraw support for the NATO decision if there is no progress at the negotiating table, and they might manage to swing the party the same way.

If that happened, Mr. Genscher was quoted by Mr. Der Spiegel as saying, the left-liberal coalition government in Bonn would be

Mr. Genscher, after flying to Washington, Warsaw and Moscow in the space of a month, spoke bopefully of Soviet readiness to resume talks without first insisting on Western acceptance of a missile deployment freeze.

But in the weeks since then Moscow has continued pushing the idea of a moratorium, proposed by Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, and has attacked Bonn's stance on the arms issue.

In an article reputted by a Bonn government spokesman, Soviet commentator Nikolai Portugalov accused West Germany of waniting Western military superiority and feigning interests in negotiations only to defuse public dis-
